Your Online Credentials Are Like Gold To Criminals

Protecting your online credentials has never been more important. Feel more confident in the security of your online accounts.

Here are a few things you can do to protect your online credentials and accounts from criminals:

Multi-Factor Authentication helps prevent 99% of account breaches.

Complex passwords or passphrases are a strong defense against hacking software.

Be skeptical of anyone who asks you to "confirm" anything of value, including account names, numbers, passwords and especially money.

Verify urgent demands for money or personal information by calling back on a number you trust.

Reliable credit monitoring can help minimize the damage with timely alerts if your credentials are stolen.
